
ABSTRACT

- 5 The invention relates to a method for controlling a device for treating of the human eye by means of an electronic computer.

The problem of providing a method for controlling a device for treating the human eye which provides a simple overview of the effect of all the parameters is solved according to 10 the invention in that, once the operating parameters have been established, a graphic simulation of the operation is carried out in the form of a graphic visualization.